

5. (Amended) A button according to claim 1, characterized in that said means for immobilizing the button against movement in translation include a notch (13f) adapted to interlock with an element (2b, 2c, 2f, 2g, 2h) of the guide means.

6. (Amended) A button according to claim 1, characterized in that the outside face of the button has a domed portion (13d) which has a raised surface (13e) to facilitate manipulating it.

7. (Amended) An electronic device provided with a button for navigating among a plurality of functions shown on a display screen (10) of the electronic device, characterized in that the button is a button according to claim 1.

8. (Amended) Application of the electronic device according to claim 1 to a telecommunication terminal.

10063415 022702